

Plan to Quit Chewing Tobacco

Healthy Tips & Ideas

Chewing tobacco is not a safe alternate to cigarettes and can be just as addictive.

It causes 75% of mouth and throat cancers. Chewing tobacco can also cause other diseases such as gum disease and heart disease.

Quitting takes hard work, but the first step is planning to quit. To make a plan to quit chewing tobacco, follow these simple tips:

Get ready Think about times you have tried to quit and be aware of what has and hasn't worked. Set a date to quit and stick to it!

Get support and encouragement

Make a list of why you want to quit and share it with friends and family. Support from friends and family can help you quit. Talk to your health care provider about quitting.

Change your routine Changing your behavior will help you quit. Exercising can help reduce your stress. Keep yourself busy. Drink lots of water. Try chewing on sunflower seeds, gum or pretzels.

Be prepared for the challenge Quitting can be difficult for many people. Be aware of what activities you do while chewing tobacco. Remember that you are improving your health by quitting.
